Glass Society - Free Zoom talk

Julia Stephenson

National Glass Centre: Building a Collection

7pm GMT, Thursday 7th November 2024

In less than 10 years National Glass Centre has built an international Studio Glass collection consisting of over 500 works. The collection tells our story through acquisitions, reflecting our temporary exhibition programme, the visiting artists, staff, students and graduates and collaborations between glass specialist and non-glass specialist artists. This talk tells the story of the second half of National Glass Centre's life through a reflection on the collection. The National Glass centre's recent arts programme has created opportunities for artists who are experts in glass making techniques and artists who are new to working in the medium.

Julia Stephenson has worked as Head of Arts at National Glass Centre for 12 years and has responsibility for exhibitions, collections and the public engagement programme.

Photo: Colonial Ghost, Pascale Marthine Tayou, 2022
Credit: David Wood

TO BOOK: Please contact Anne Lutyens-Stobbs at gsmeetings@outlook.com, by the 5th November.
Please note, places are limited. You will be sent details of how to join the Zoom meeting before the talk.

We are continuing to hold meetings on this platform, as well as some meetings in London and elsewhere.

Next Meeting: Xth Xxxxxxxx.